This effect honey and aids in ripening it. It is claimed that at least 25 per cent of the weight of fresh nectar will be lost through evaporation during the first 24 hours of storage. You will perhaps not believe that bees have a bread baking day as well as people. The bread that bees make is rather simple in its composition. The golden dust of the flowers is the principal thing used. This we have come to know as pollen, and to secure the proper distribution of it is one reason why flowers of some plants make themselves especially attractive to bees so that they will visit them. From some kinds of flowers bees secure only pollen. When gathering pollen, the worker bee mixes it with aliva so that it will stick well, and when his has been done, she packs it away in the special carrying sacks with which her hind legs are equipped. These are the golden balls of dust which we frenently see in these places on her legs. Arriving at the hive, she selects a cell in which to unload her burden. After she has done this, other bees come along

Any one who has bad anything to do with bees has noticed that the inside of the hive has been smoothed over with a devastated regions and 26.9 per cent in kind of sticky substance something like glue. This material is known as bee glue or by the more technical name of propolis. The worker bees gather this ubstance from any source which they find. Many trees and shrubs protect the spring of the year when growth starts becomes soft and sticky. Among the trees furnishing this material are the birch, the willow, the alder, the horse-chestnut, and the hickory. The workers gather this in great quantities. When they get it inside the hive they make use of it by smoothing off all rough surfaces and stopping up any cracks and crevices they discover. They Hints of a possible fraud on the court by parties to litigation surrounding the receivership of the New Home Sewing Machine Company of Orange, Man., and a denunciation of the management of the company by a creditors' committee as "extravagant. wasteful and inefficient," are features of two opinions handed down in the U. S. equity court, Boston.

The formation of a new corporation to acquire the property and business of the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company of Gloucester, Mass., now in the hands of receivers, was made known with the filing of a report in the United States equity court Boston, by Arthur J. Santry, co-receiver. The report states that negotiations toward the formation of the proposed new corporation have been carried on by William L. Putnam, organizer, a creditors' committee representing holders of notes in excess of 88 per cent. of the present note indebtedness, and a committee representing preferred stockholders. Sale of the company's assets should be subject to an upset price, the report states, which will be sufficient to pay claims against the company and all unpaid expenses of the receivership, which would put the price well up to $1,300,000 and perhaps

A lumber camp fend, resulting in the death of Charles Carroll of Blanchard, Me., at the hands of his adversary, one Briscus, a lumberjack, is basis for a suit for $5000 filed in the federal court. Briscus, "a man of extremely vicious tendencies' on "many and divers occasions," assaulted his fellow lumberjacks in the Hollingsworth & Whitney camp at Bald Mountain, Me., early in 1921, the declaration says. His actions are said to have been called to the attention of his employers. On Feb. 22 1921, Briscus again attacked Carrol! and beat him so that he died, the declaration continues. It says that Carroll left five sisters and one brother, all of whom were dependent upon him for support, and declares that the killing came about because of failure on the part of the company to get

An order just issued by Bisbop Thomas M. O'Leary of the Springfield. Mass., diocese, forbidding any of the curates in the parishes of his diocese to own automobiles is causing wide discussion. There are many curates in the diocese who own cars. The new ruling was given out during the retreat for priests at Holy Cross College. Curates who persist in keeping their cars have been warned that they will have to break their connection with the diocese. A similar ruling Providence for the last two years.

Here and There.

The craze of archæology is abroad the world, not only in those old centers of early civilization, Asia and Africa but in Mexico, supposed to belong to a new world, and in far and forgotten Cathay and the isles of the Indian seas. Ceylon is a fruitful field. It once had a civilization contemporary with Rome but it seems the jungle conquered and its falling foliage has added a blanket of covering for each of the two thousand years since it first invaded the works o mankind. Recently the old city was a large city covering at least sixteen square miles. The boundaries have not een determined. Decipherable "Asoka" characters place its founding as a royal city at 437 years B. C. It was deserte in the ninth century. The site of this city to-day is like an English wood while cattle keep the turk beneath live oak, banyan, teak and ficus trees in lawnlike condition. In this parklike domain are marble bathing pools of a minute attention. These columns supported superstructures which have disappeared. These monoliths are of every girth and height. Some spring from marble platforms and some are embed-ded in the soil. There is one roofless building known as the "Brazen Palace. which has sixteen hundred pillars Some of the dagobas are of tremendous with base diameter of 252 feet. Around this dagoba extends a pavement eigh acres in extent. It was probably a memorial structure or perhaps a reliquary inspired by Buddhism. The moonstone of Ceylon was not a "precious stone until its quaint carving made it so Anuradhapura has several of these. > / The Paris Players. The Paris Players, a new dramatic club being organized, will give their first performance of the laughable farce-comady in three acts, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," which has been in rehearsal two months, at West Sumner on Monday evening, July 16th. The play will be given at Bolster's Mills on Thursday evening, July 19th, and at West Paris on Tuesday evening, July 24th. On Thursday evening, July 26th, the play will be given in Association Hall, South Paris. been set except those given.

MEN'S CLOTHING STORES

IN SUMMER Summer Clothes

It's no wonder that PALM BEACH is the most popular summer fabric for men's clothes. People know that and have got the habit of calling any light-weight summer suit a PALM BEACH SUIT. That is not correct. A genuine PALM BEACH SUIT is one made of genuine PALM BEACH CLOTH. We have that kind—the genuine.

The Manufacturers of Palm Beach Say:

"You see PALM BEACH SUITS selling at different prices. Yet you know there is only one grade of Palm Beach Cloth. The difference is in the amount and grade or quality of tailoring."

It pays to buy a well tailored Palm Beach Suit. That's why we buy Kirschbaum's.

Possibly they cost a trifle more than a poorly made one but the value is there and the shape too. Do you like sloppy clothes? No. Then buy one of our Kirschbaum's.

HOMEMAKERS' COLUMN.

(By Dixle M. Burton.)

When summer comes, let not cooling foods be far behind. Careful housewives the desirable foods for the summer sea the desirable toods for the summer sea-son. Salads are especially acceptable. We hear much about "swatting the dau-delion," but it should not be extermi-nated, as it has great medicinal value. Spinach is palatable and is rich in iron; many people like the old-fashioned mustard and lamb's quarters greens, and we do not tire of tomatoes and lettuce, nor of the fruit salads. French dressing should now replace the heavy mayonand it is valuable as a digestive.

Eggs are cheap now and the wise housewife will serve them often in the place of meat, which, aside from bacon chicken, and an occasional pressed meat, should be almost eliminated from the summer menu.

If you will bake cake, let it be angel food, or the white variety. The angel food, or the white variety. The use of pies in hot weather requires hard work, a hot oven and brings hard luck to those who are not blessed with a strong digestion. Instead of pies, use fruits, fruit and jell-o, fruit and tapioca, custards and ices for dessert. Frozen desserts are among the best and least expensive for warm weather. A small freezer is the most practical. It requires but little ice and salt, can be carried about with ease, and, when the contents are frozen, the freezer can be placed in berries.

There are three things to be considered when planning meals during the summer months. They should not require too much work. If possible, the oven should not have to be heated in their preparation, and it makes it much be prepared the day before, or early the morning of the day it is to be served.

Menus of this kind should be planned by all means if, late in July, or during a sweltering August, the housewife who has no maid and who is already worn to a thread, receives word that an avalanche a thread, receives word that an avalanche of company is about to descend upon her. It is for these tired and perplexed women that recipes for a delicious pressed meat, a tempting salad, and a dainty dessert are given below. They may all be cooked on top of the range, and may be prepared the day before. Add bread and butter and a vegetable to these dishes and you will have a substantial meal.

Make all of your meals simple, and hot and tired, and enjoyment should be the object of your dinner.
